Can I ask a favor or have I used them all up already? Feel awkward asking you about this but you're one of the best pain management docs around I hear so who better to ask? Plus I consider you my friend. Here's the scoop.

My boyfriend hurt his neck. Actually, Dan Fleury hurt his neck 2 weeks ago. Long story. Kevin has hurt his neck in the past, between C6 and C7 he says. He has no insurance to get an x-ray or an MRI right now. His neck hurts when he shakes his head no, no pain with yes. Causing numbness down his right arm to the last three fingers on his right hand. Increased pain with raising his arm. He is at his wits end with it. Tried Prednisone, minimal relief. 400mg of Motrin TID, minimal, if any relief. He wants pain medicine and I do not want him going down that road, for obvious reasons. Is there anything you could do- an injection, anything- to avoid narcotics? He is not rich by any means so affording to go anywhere else is tough. I don't even know if you would inject him because he has no recent x-ray or MRI... Don't know what's going on in there... I don't know what to do. Can you help? Thoughts? If I've used up my favors I completely understand.

Sounds like a C7-8 radiculitis probably from a disc bulge.

We could do an injection but would have to charge our costs, which are probably about $200 cash or cahiers check. Eventually he needs an MRI if symptoms recur. Thats about $1800. Hospitals cut no deals. Happy to get him in today during a cancellation. Let me know.

He can't do the injection because of work.

Nyla says that maybe a muscle relaxer and a steroid would help. You think? Anything I could call in? I know I'm being a pain in the ass but the thought of him having pain pills freaks me out pretty bad.
